 3. Providing Personal Data is voluntary, however, it is a condition for the provision of services on the part of the Administrator or the conclusion of a contract with the Administrator, it may also be required by law. The data subject is each time informed by the Administrator in the appropriate information clause about the voluntary nature or the need to disclose certain Personal Data to the Administrator.
 4. Personal data of CANDIDATES, COLLABORATORS OF THE ADMINISTRATOR and EMPLOYEES OF ADMINISTRATOR’S CLIENTS will not be transferred to countries outside the EU and to international organizations. These Personal Data will not be subject to automated decisions (decisions without human participation), nor will they be subject to profiling.

§8 OTHER CASES OF TRANSFERING PERSONAL DATA

1. In cases other than those described in §4-6 of this Privacy Policy and to the extent it is justified by the purpose of processing, the Administrator will transfer Personal Data to entities that act on its behalf, i.e. providers of IT services and solutions, consultants providing accounting, legal, financial, insurance and administrative services, auditors, entities conducting customer satisfaction surveys at the request of the Administrator, entities providing customer service at the request of the Administrator, entities providing services in the field of sending messages, advisor and entities providing the tools referred to in point XI of this Privacy Policy (Cookies).

2. If it is required by law or necessary to pursue or defend against claims, the Administrator may transfer Personal Data to public authorities, including courts, prosecutor's offices or the police, and professional attorneys (these entities will become separate administrators of Personal Data in such a situation).
3. Personal Data may be transferred to entities processing them at the request of the Administrator, and such entities process Personal Data on the basis of an appropriate contract for entrusting the processing of personal data concluded with the Administrator and in accordance with the Administrator's instructions.

§ 9. PERSONAL DATA PROCESSING PERIOD

1. To the extent that Personal Data is processed by the Administrator for the performance of the contract, the Administrator will process it for the duration of the contract.
2. To the extent that Personal Data is processed for the implementation of the Administrator's legitimate interests, they will be processed for the duration of the legitimate interest, unless the data subject objects to the processing of such data earlier. If the Administrator can demonstrate the existence of important, legally justified grounds for further processing of these data, overriding the rights of the person, or necessary to establish, pursue or defend claims, defend the Administrator's position in criminal, administrative or misdemeanor proceedings, as well as counteract possible abuse or fraud, the Administrator will process them despite the objection (this does not apply to the person's objection to processing for direct marketing purposes, which does not require justification).
3. To the extent that Personal Data are processed based on the consent of the person to whom they relate, they will be processed until the consent is withdrawn.
4. To the extent that Personal Data is processed for the purpose of fulfilling the Administrator's obligations under the law (e.g. from the Act on Accounting, the Labor Code, Tax Regulations or the GDPR), they will be processed for the period resulting from such regulations.
5. To the extent that Personal Data is processed for the purpose of establishing or pursuing claims, as well as in order to defend against such claims, they will be processed for the period of limitation of the claims of the data subject or the Administrator's claims.

§ 10. RIGHTS OF THE DATA SUBJECTS

1. In connection with the processing of Personal Data, the data subject has the following rights:
 - a) the right to request access to their Personal Data;
 - b) the right to request rectification of their Personal Data if they believe that the data is incorrect or incomplete;
 - c) the right to request the deletion of their Personal Data if: (i) the data is no longer necessary for the purposes for which it was collected by the Administrator; (ii) the data subject has withdrawn their consent to the processing of Personal Data and the

Administrator has no other legal basis to process such Personal Data; (iii) the data subject objects to the processing of Personal Data and on the part of the Administrator there are no overriding legitimate grounds for processing despite the objection, or the person objects to the processing of Personal Data for direct marketing purposes; (iv) the Personal Data has been unlawfully processed; (v) Personal Data should be deleted in order to fulfill the obligation resulting from the law.

The right to delete data does not apply to Personal Data processed on the basis of applicable law or data processed in order to establish, defend, pursue any claims.

- d) the right to request restriction of the processing of Personal Data if: (i) the data subject notices that the Personal Data is incorrect – you can request restriction of the processing of your Personal Data for a period allowing the Administrator to check the correctness of this data; (ii) the Personal Data are processed unlawfully, but the data subject does not want them to be deleted by the Administrator; (iii) Personal Data are no longer needed by the Administrator, but may be needed by the data subject to establish, pursue or defend claims; (iv) the data subject objects to the processing of data – until it is determined whether the legitimate grounds existing on the part of the Administrator override the grounds for objection;
 - e) the right to object to the processing of Personal Data, if the processing is based on the legitimate interest of the Administrator, and the objection is justified by the data subject's special situation.
2. The data subject also has the right to withdraw consents based on which the Administrator processes Personal Data and consents to the use of the e-mail address and telephone number for marketing activities, while the withdrawal of consent does not affect the legality of the activities performed prior to withdrawal of consent.
 3. In order to exercise the above-mentioned rights, please contact the Administrator at the e-mail address indicated in this Privacy Policy.
 4. The data subject also has the right to lodge a complaint when they consider that the processing of Personal Data violates the provisions of the GDPR. The complaint should be lodged with the supervisory body which from May 25, 2018 is the President of the Office for Personal Data Protection.
